You will be a grouchy, crusty sort of a citizen—a regular "Old Scrooge" in fact—it, you do not loosen up in answer to the appeal this made and drop a liberal offering into the kettle. Then you might so to the nearest toy store and select from the varied assortment something that will recall the carriest something that will recall the earnest longings of your childhood days; take tilt to Salvation Army headquarters for distribution with the Christmas din-ner backets. If you would have the real Christmas spirit enter and pos-Sess your soul, go with some member to the army or Christman morning when the visits are made to the homes of the poor, and there witness the de-light the generosity of yourself and others life you will bring to those less fortunate than you have been.

If you cannot forget yourself long genough to do these things, at least forget your own solfish desires long enough and to the extent that you will not be content unless you make your contribution to the Salvation Army dinner fund many times larger than you first intended. Do this, then note the added zest with which you will conjoy the happiest day of all the year.

Today's 16-page edition, of The Courier will reduce Christinas shop-ping problems to the very simple task of making your selections under the quiet of the evening lamp, followed by a brief visit to the stores fomorrow gto make your purchases.

WORRY.

There are various kinds of worry and L know that sages say. We should break our worrying habit and put all our fears away. Thever see a youngster comping on the streets in play.

But I wonder it his father ever worrlos through the day, ...

Does he worry for his safety, does he worry for his care?

Does he worry for his future and the hurdens he must bear?

Does he big fear ever strike him as he kieses him at night.

That in some way, as his parent, he may not be doing right?

Man cannot escape from worry, cannot smile at self-disgrace. He cannot sit down contented, sbirking tasks, he ought to face;
By his model obligations to be just and clean and true,
Ho Tis bound at times to worry over what is fair to do.
And there's none so rich in wisdom but must sometimes sit at night And worry test his Judgment shall not lead lifty to the right.

Lighting the Christmas Smile in Connellsville

This is our hope. If lowered prices can spread the Christinas spirit, make faces brighter and happier, we know that you will grow enthusiastic when you see the splendid economies offered here.

It seems like years that we have had to face the startled look and the patient expression of tired endurance gained in a constant strife to make dollars go farther. We had the same experience and we know exactly how you felt when prices kept mounting higher and higher, and we had to pay high prices to get the things you wanted. The years have been hard on us all!

But now these hard days are past. For months we have been fighting our way back to lower price levels and at every drop, you got immediate benefit.

Now, with Christmas so near, we have skipped a month or so and cut many thing to half, taking our loss philosophically, because we know you will profit in getting a full season's use of the goods you buy and in the joy of seeing the dollars spent at Christmastime going farther than

Back in the past was the painful time of "doing without things," but here is a wonderful opportunity to fill all your wants at prices which are a pleasure to pay.

And "Early Shopping" was never of greater Importance, for

STAGNATION HAS SEIZED THE SPOT FURNACE COKE MARKET

Transactions Not of Sufficient Importance to Establish Market.

CONTRACTS TAKE OUTPUT

Many Berchant Furnaces Out of Blast, More to Follow; Contract Discussions Continue But No Actual Transactions Result; Flaying For Time.

Special to The Wookly Courier.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 3 .-- The spot toke market has turned, altogether ataginant in the past two or three days and there are no transactions of suffi-cient importance to base market quotations upon. In the late days of last week there was a fair, although very moderate, movement of spot furnace coke, there being some transactions at 37,50, the minimum of the market a week ago, and others at $7.25, these prices referring to standard brands. Other cokes, ordinarily considered of good quality, are reported to have been offered down to $6.00 without finding takers

A difficulty in the market situation at present is the fact that some operstors de not make definite quotations stors drived have coke to sell, but in-stead ask for bids. When consumers make bids in such circumstances the bids are quite below the ideas of fur-nacemen, and if a stray lot were sold now and then against such bids the price done would not be considered the regular market.

It is perfectly natural that there should be no demand for spot fur-nace coke at this time, as contract shipments are good and many fur-naces are already out of blast, with more to follow. Of the 13 merchant furnaces in the Mahoning and Shen-ango Valley, six or seven are out of blast a: this writing and several more are expected to go put of blast within a very few weeks, probably before. January 1. The Valley proportion seeing to hold good quite generally among merchant furnaces, but the works furnaces make a somewhat better showing. The steet works, however, are very short of orders and there is likely to be much banking or blowing out of steel works furnaces in the next few weeks. The difficulty in steel is that the independent steel producers have of late been guiting only overflow business, beyond what the United States Steel Corporation could take care of and thus the independents have to stand nearly all the idleness in this period of reduced demand for steel products. The United States Steel Corporation is operating the same as for several months past and will probably con-tinus to do so for some time to come.

In spot foundry coke there has been a fair demand, but the buying has been topering off as some classes of consumers have dropped out of the market. Prices are down about 50 cents in the week. The spot market quotable approximately as foi-

In coke circles there is considerable discuss on about furnace coke con-tracts for the first half of the new year, but in most cases it is impossible to interest consumers, at least function of getting down to actual negotiation. Coke operators are in touth whether the furnacemen Abrah. are in doubt whether the furnacement are as indifferent as they seem, or are playing for time, boping to reduce the operators to their lowest terms. A number of operators would probably be with a probably to Scottdale. A number of operators would probably be willing now to contract for coke on a ratio basis of five to one, particular ratio basis of five to one, particular probably be willing now to contract for coke on a ratio basis of five to one, particular probably to be will be a second of the contract of the probably to be a second of the contract of the con included in the contract, but that matter of a minimum would be a stickmatter of a minimum would be a sticking point with the average furnaceman who, instead of consenting to a minimum would hold that the lower plg iron goes the more need he has for cheap coke. One or two larger operators are strongly inclined to reperators are strongly inclined to refrain from quoting on either a ritio or a flat orice basis and to urge consumers to agree upon the monthly settlement basis.

In foundry coke there is little boing done on contract. One large operator, is understood to be quoting $10.

a price that does not interest consumers. There is a rumor that another operator has quoted as much lower price, but this is not confirmed.

The plg iron market continues

The pig iron market continues stagnant, but at any rate there are TURNING CAR SEATS

While quotations named a week ago are practically nominal they represent the market in so far as any market can be quoted. Furnacemen have no incentive to mark down quotations as there is no inquiry for extended delivery. As the furnaces have very little business on books the individual stack is not inparticularly anxious to make small sales for the first quarter or half of the new year, since if only a limited tonnage were sold the sales would be an incumbrance rather than an adventage, making it awkward for the furnace to blow out. The comment platicophy of furnacemen is that the condition requires a liquidation hat can best be accomplished by a pariod of idleness. Prices are nominally quotable as follows:

Merchant Producers Add 700 Ovens to the Innetive List.

FURNACE SHIPMENTS GAIN

The Present Being Good Time to Augment Reserves; Merchant Operators View Situation Columby and Act Deliberately; Let Events Take Course.

From The Weekly Courier.

The withdrawel of upwards of 700 years from the preducing list chows to what extent the merchant operators find measures of restriction necessary in order to hold output within the limits of decreasing contract require-ments and spot demand, while also preventing the accumulation of stocks for which there's at present no active market. Incidentally other slowing down measures are being employed and a sharp lookout maintained as to the developments which determine the consumptive demand for coke. Thus operation has been relieved of the high tension which is applied during someons of great activity and a moderato, even a leisurely, gait has been assumed.

All those things reflect the attitude of the producers which is manifestly in the direction of a conservation of onergies and resources and a holding in check in order that the situation may not get out of hand. The steps have been taken with a deliberation which shows there has at no time been a feeling of alarm at the downward trend, or a desire to impede the progress of readjustment. Knowing that this must needs come the coke producers are now in the mood, and posi-tioned as well, to let events take their natural and orderly course, having every confidence that in the season a new basis of values will be established which will form a stable foundation upon which an encuring and healthy prosperity for industry generally, in-cluding coke making, will be created. While the merchant interests are finding curtailment of production a necessity, in proportion as furnees are blown out and foundries slowed down our suspended and other coke down or suspended and other coke consumers materially reduce their toke requirements, the furnace interests are keeping their coke production well up to the ordinary week-to-ye. a average. In fact, it was ideressed last week by something over 6,000 tons while approximately 5,000 tons of stock in addition to the oven-te-car loadings were shipped out. A number of furnaces of the steel interests having blown out, and more preparing to do so, the activity in coke production by their subsidiaries does not, as in the case of the merchant coke producers, reflect furnace requirer Instead, it shows that with the imcar supply the present is regarded os an opportune time to augment the stocks of coke at the furnaces as a precaution against any possible con-ingency in the near future. With the steady lessening demand for coke, and shipments on contracts and a limited spot business absorbing muput within a close range, the marcet has become wholly inactive. Fracleally no effort is being made to stimthenty no cort is selled hinderto, stimulate it, producers preferring to hat tently wait for a more prophious time to go after business; Coke gar supply is good and every other condition of operation is entirely favorable. cases should keep their eye on the press reports of similar medical vic-tories and know that many physicians are now treating weakness of both men and women in this modern, scientific way.

Scientists tell us that in the glands they have found a vital secret of life which are called "hormones." To find these essential chemical elements. which have been discovered help con-trol organs, blood, nerves and tissuebuilding, they now go straight to life itself and from healthy, young cattle and sheep, take the gland-power which we need and prepare it in tab-let form, so it may be taken pleas-antly and conveniently.

For Young and Old

It should not be supposed that gland extracts are effective only with pre-maturely old people. They are being used extensively by young men and women who are macmic run-down, nervous, thin, pale and weak, with re-stmale. According to those who have given this new treatment the greatest attacked. This idea of using animal thought, our health and vigor depend extracts is not in itself new—pepsin.
